

MARADIVA

VILLAS RESORT & SPA | MAURITIUS

THE INSPIRATION FOR MARADIVA VILLAS RESORT & SPA

MARADIVA provides three essential ingredients to an exceptional stay; the privacy and comfort of its villas, a harmonious environment and an interior design that reflects the modernity and diversity of Mauritian craftsmanship.

In a lush 27-acre setting with the turquoise waters of Tamarin Bay lapping the white sandy beach, the 65 villas at MARADIVA are at the heart of a vibrant paradise, ideally situated for coral diving, big game fishing, world-class golf and beautiful national parks.

Nestled on the west coast of the island, MARADIVA Villas Resort and Spa was designed in 2003 by the famous Mauritian architect Maurice Giraud.

With over 200 staff members dedicated to serving the guests, MARADIVA promises the epitome of Mauritian hospitality.

The villas enjoy views of the ocean or the lush gardens, each with their own plunge pool. With a large infinity swimming pool, an award winning holistic spa, three a la carte restaurants or dining options and bars, a kids club, a sports and fitness centre and boat house, MARADIVA offers world-class facilities and the personalised service of a Mauritian family owned and managed resort.

Guests may choose to relax in understated elegance or experience authentic Mauritian culture, with its natural wonders of the island.

PHILOSOPHY

MARADIVA has been inspired by the colonial residences of the sugar cane plantation owners. With views of the ocean, MARADIVA boasts vast panoramas and open spaces with each residence enjoying high ceilings.

Utmost attention has been given to the natural environment: seaward with the coral reef and landward towards the volcanic peaks. The striking colours of the landscape and the lush gardens give a serenity and sense of wellness to MARADIVA.

NATURAL MATERIALS

A Mauritian basaltic stone greets guests on the floors of all public areas, including the lobby and the main restaurant. Quartz slabs provide a wide palette of colours to cover the swimming pool, whilst bathrooms are enhanced by Italian marble. 'Jaisalmer', a stone from Rajasthan has been used in the Spa, alongside natural oak furniture. Rosewood from Madagascar covers the floors in the villas and all open spaces. Exteriors are covered with teak from Burma. Furniture is made with teak or 'sapele' wood and the structural woodwork is made from Santos Rosewood.

INTERIOR DESIGNS AT MARADIVA

MARADIVA boasts an eclectic mix of Mauritian and Indian art. The furniture and the art that decorate each villa give a local air of authenticity. The wooden latticed doors allow light to stream through and the design is inspired by original Indian woodwork. A pair of 'Vrindavan' lamps (traditional Indian lanterns) illuminate the private pool.

The newly refurbished villas have a mix of traditional and contemporary designs. The wall panel behind the newly designed headboard features Hermès.

THE COLOURS OF MARADIVA

The exterior colours of the Resort are in harmony with those of the landscape. The open lounge and the swimming pool reflect the colour tones of the ocean and the gardens. The interiors comprise of bright, bold colours while darker colour accents are provided by the handicraft pieces. Wood is in abundance to give warmth and add a local authentic feel.
